

MISSOURI ENTERPRISE

Missouri Enterprise was founded in 1983 and our mission is simply “To Help Missouri Manufacturers, like you, Succeed”. To do that, we provide a broad range of hands-on business, technical and manufacturing optimization services, delivered by an experienced, “been there, done that,” staff and a comprehensive network of public and private partners. We help Missouri manufacturers build cultures to support strategic growth and sustain continuous improvement.

There are several characteristics that distinguish Missouri Enterprise. Most importantly, for Missouri Enterprise clients is the “Hands-On” implementation assistance that is integral to our service delivery. We don’t just hold a training class or perform an assessment, provide you with a report or a list of recommendations and then move to other companies. When we help manufacturing businesses, like yours, we become an extension of your staff and we are with you every step of your journey to excellence. Missouri Enterprise specialists have an average of nearly 30 years manufacturing experience and are strategically positioned across the state. Missouri Enterprise...your partner in manufacturing.

Like the guidance we provide to our manufacturing clients, we also place a high value on instilling a culture of continuous improvement within our own organization. Since 2009, we have been registered as an ISO9001 company and maintained the integrity of our business management system to assure we drive value to our manufacturing clients.

GROWING SUCCESS: HOW GREEN DIRT FARM HAD A MARKETING PLAN AND FEASIBILITY STUDY THAT TRANSFORMED THEIR FUTURE

ABOUT GREEN DIRT FARM, LLC. Green Dirt Farm, founded in 2002 by the passionate Sarah Hoffmann, embodies a steadfast commitment to sustainable, high-quality food. Nestled just outside of Kansas City in Weston, Missouri, the farm specializes in producing dairy from grass-fed sheep, with a profound belief in the well-being of their animals as the cornerstone of exceptional products. Despite initial challenges, Sarah's dedication led to the farm's first year of commercial cheese production in 2008, marking the beginning of numerous awards and recognitions for their artisan cheeses. Today, Green Dirt Farm not only produces award-winning cheeses but also offers experiences like cafe visits, tours, and events, all rooted in commitment to sustainable farming practices and community support.

THE CHALLENGE. Green Dirt Farm, a distinctive sheep dairy, recognized its rarity within the United States and understood the necessity of expanding its operations for sustainable economic growth. Recognizing the need to innovate, the farm sought to explore additional product offerings to diversify its market presence. With a focus on addressing consumer needs, Green Dirt Farm identified bottled sheep milk as a potential venture, particularly appealing to individuals with lactose intolerance. After consulting with Missouri Enterprise, part of the MEP National Network™, it was agreed that conducting a feasibility study and crafting a marketing plan would provide crucial insights into the resources and strategies required to introduce bottled sheep milk to the market.

MEP CENTER'S ROLE. Missouri Enterprise is the perfect solution for manufacturing companies like Green Dirt Farm. Missouri Enterprise developed and assisted with implementing a feasibility study and marketing plan that allowed Green Dirt Farm to manage the growth and development of its business.

First, there was an initial assessment between Missouri Enterprise and Green Dirt Farm to discuss goals, plans, and processes for the future. After discussing details, Missouri Enterprise was able to form these plans. Green Dirt Farm then established that this new business venture was possible and has since provided success to their business. Leveraging the outcomes of this project, Green Dirt Farm has successfully applied for and secured grants, driving further growth and advancement in its operations

"We are very grateful for the help from Missouri Enterprise and happy to have been rewarded a grant because of the help that they gave us."

-Sarah Green, Executive Director
