

BRIDGING THE GAP: ISO READINESS FOR MOORE FANS

ABOUT MOORE FANS LLC. Since 1940, Moore Fans, headquartered in Marceline, Missouri, has been a pioneering force in the industrial axial flow fan industry, consistently delivering high-efficiency, quality products worldwide. Their legacy of innovation includes groundbreaking achievements such as the first fabricated stressed skin fan, resiliently mounted blades, and ultra-low noise engine-driven fans. With over 400,000 fans sold globally, Moore Fans is critical in cooling applications across various industries. Committed to continuous improvement, they are dedicated to developing the most efficient fan blades on the market. As true partners in airflow solutions, Moore Fans collaborates closely with customers, offering tailored solutions and unwavering support from project inception to completion.

THE CHALLENGE. Since 2017, Moore Fans has collaborated with Missouri Enterprise, part of the MEP National Network™, to enhance its operational efficiencies and maintain industry standards. Recently, Moore Fans approached Missouri Enterprise for an ISO Gap Analysis after experiencing challenges securing quotes from companies requiring stringent quality certifications. Many aerospace manufacturers and suppliers demand ISO 9001.2015 - certified partners to ensure robust quality management systems. With Missouri Enterprise's support, Moore Fans wanted to achieve the necessary ISO certification and meet the high standards potential clients require, thereby improving their competitiveness and ability to secure business opportunities.

MEP CENTER'S ROLE. Missouri Enterprise, part of the MEP National Network, is the perfect solution for manufacturing companies like Moore Fans. Missouri Enterprise's QMS experts, with their extensive knowledge and experience, came on-site and worked with Moore Fans to help them develop the systems they needed to prepare for and achieve their certification in the ISO 9001.2015 and internal audit for the aerospace standard.

"The ISO certification process can be very complicated, but having Missouri Enterprise explain and walk us through the process was fantastic, and we are thankful for that."
